

Abstract

This invention features methods of generating toxicity profiles of compounds by screening expression libraries with the compounds. The profiles contain lists of proteins (or other biomolecules) to which the compounds bind and 5 optionally information on the strength of binding.

[illegible]